

It Honked at Me, Ashwin

Week 4 lesson 5

FRIDAY

Review

MASTER READERS

LO: I can develop my understanding of a text.

Let's read pages 8-13 once more

Don't forget to look out for our target words

honked and flaunted

"Oops! I wrote Minty, not Monty," Laura explained.

"The shelter is closed now. Could you care for Minty for two days? We can swap Minty for Monty on Monday."

They agreed. Laura left. Minty honked.
"It honked at me, Ashwin!" Freddy said.

10

Minty hatched some schemes to make Freddy and Ashwin love him. Maybe then they would keep him forever.

11

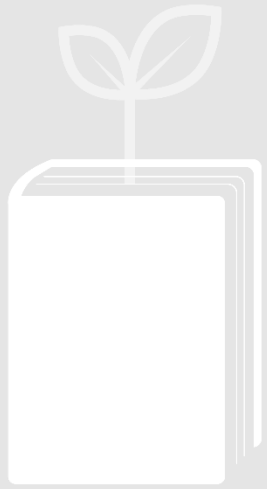

Minty wanted to impress them with a little dance, so he hopped up onto a wooden cabinet. He flaunted his gigantic wings. He wiggled and he jiggled. The men watched, feeling alarmed.

Minty's feathers grazed against a small bronze sculpture. It fell with a heavy thud.

LO: I can deepen my understanding of the text.

MASTER
READERS

LO: I can deepen my understanding of the text.

1. Which type of word is 'bronze' in the sentence below?

Minty's feathers grazed against a small bronze sculpture.

Tick one.

noun

☐

verb

☐

adjective

☐

adverb

☐

2. Circle the verb that is written in the past tense.

It fell with a heavy thud.

LO: I can deepen my understanding of the text.

3. Write the word can't as two separate words.

_____ and _____

4. Tick the sentence below that is punctuated correctly. Tick one.

The shelter is closed now
the shelter is closed now.
The shelter is closed now.
The shelter is clozed now.

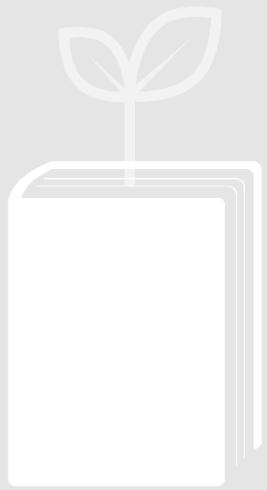

LO: I can deepen my understanding of the text.

5. Correctly punctuate the sentence below.

maybe then they would keep him forever

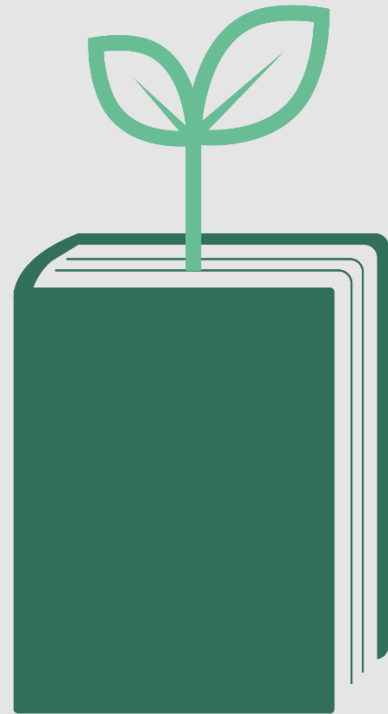

You can draw a picture of your favourite part from pages 8-13.

MASTER
READERS

MASTER READERS

excellence after phonics